thing is repeated without properly assessing the requirements of the Travancore-Cochin State, they will again face trouble. This has to be put an end to. Only if a preliminary enquiry is conducted and all facts of the case are placed before the people of both Kerala and Tamilnad, we can go further in the matter. But this assurance I gave. If there is really excess woter available, I will stand on the side of the Tamil people to see that that water is diverted to Tamilnad.

Sir, I would once again plead with the Government to investigate the possibilities of harnessing the water of the rivers in Malabar for irrigation purposes and to undertake more minor irrigation works in consultation with the kisan organizations in Malabar.

Mr. SPEAKER: The House is adjourned to meet at 9 a.m. on Monday, the 19th March 1956.
